Mechanical Engineering Association

Mechanical Engineering Association (MEA) was started by the department of Mechanical engineering to support the students of mechanical engineering by nurturing them with ideas, interactions, and introductions that drive positive change in the society. MEA provides the platform to students by introducing them to the societies like Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE) and Indian Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air Conditioning Engineers (ISHRAE). Students take part in the activities of these societies and get exposure to the present day advancements in the field of mechanical engineering. They are also provided with opportunity to participate in the events organized through Partners for the Advancement of Collaborative Engineering Education (PACE) at global level.
